Explosion injuries: three serious

Three of four workers injured in an explosion today at the Enviro-Safe Refrigerants bottling plant are listed in serious condition, an official said.

The fourth is in fair condition. Their identities were not yet available Tuesday evening.

Two of the seriously injured, a 57-year-old woman and a 50-year-old man, were taken by LifeFlight helicopter to the burn unit at OSF Saint Anthony Medical Center, said a spokeswoman for OSF Saint Francis Medical Center in Peoria where they initially were sent.

The third, a 52-year-old man, remains at St. Francis along with a 45-year-old woman listed in fair condition, the spokeswoman said.

All four suffered burns “to various parts of their bodies,” she said, in the blast that erupted shortly after 3 p.m. at the plant at 100 Caroline St.
